

A modern office interior featuring a prominent glass and metal staircase with a wooden handrail. The space is bright, with large windows in the background and several black, teardrop-shaped pendant lights hanging from the ceiling. In the foreground, there is a glass railing overlooking a lower level. The floor is made of light-colored wood. The overall aesthetic is clean, professional, and contemporary.

Introducing Scott Crain

Being authentic is our mantra. Since the 1977 founding of our parent construction company, the E.E. Reed name has stood for integrity, honesty and trust. E.E. Reed Interiors is built on that legacy, with a dedicated focus on top-tier interiors spearheaded by a team of talented, seasoned professionals and led by Scott Crain.

The heartbeat of every building resonates within its walls. It is here that talented people are empowered, thriving enterprises are built and brilliant ideas come to life.

E.E. Reed is widely respected for our storied history of both award-winning construction and an impressive portfolio of stunning interiors. Our client retention speaks to E.E. Reed's expertise in listening to and collaborating with end-users, design teams and specialty contractors about their complex needs, preferences and distinguishing work environments.

Similarly, we are highly skilled at capital improvements to existing tenant spaces. Always flexible, we are mindful of the health and wellness of occupied buildings. We encourage collaborative teamwork in order to assure a productive work environment. Maintaining productivity is our ultimate goal.

Open concept ranks among the top trends. Designers and E.E. Reed Interiors have identified unique opportunities to minimize distractions, maximize spontaneous collaboration and cater to the fundamental desire for privacy while also creating productive environments.

Custom millwork, LED lighting, subdued color palettes, high-end finishes and soft accents set the backdrop for this contemporary collaboration area.

Environmental responsibility remains in the limelight, and we work diligently for a balance that meets your social responsibility objectives.

In the pre-construction phase, we add significant value by protecting both the client's vision and the architect's design.

We stay current on evolving trends, as well as the pros, cons and costs associated with them. Our proficiency in value engineering uniquely positions E.E. Reed to meticulously substitute materials and methods with similar but less costly alternatives. By analyzing the underlying functions of components and materials, our substitutions protect costs without sacrificing functionality, design or vision.

From energizing modern interiors with clean lines and open concepts, to stunning traditional interiors with unmistakable classic touches, E.E. Reed delivers total interior solutions that reinforce company cultures, set the stage for meaningful work and inspire thoughtful excellence.

E.E. Reed has earned a stellar reputation for our ethics, integrity, honesty and originality. We approach projects with genuine interest, and our credibility is reflected in trust and confidence our clients place in our talents and insight.

Our collaborative process translates your needs and visions into a high-functioning work environment that mirror your company's culture and personality.
