Not everyone understands what immunocompromised people are going through right now.

An open letter from Jeff Bridges.

I'm not the same person I was before the pandemic. I bet most of you can relate.

In January of 2020 when I got COVID-19 on top of my cancer, I cannot lose it all. But it doesn't just take a breath with death to experience loss. I want to talk about another kind of loss. The kind those of us with an immunocompromised live with every day.

You know, when your immune system is weak, you should protect from what your heart wants because your body can't take it. I guess the hardest is frustrating as hell.

because even though you're doing it for all the right reasons, you miss out on so much. Finally, I got real tired of it. I wanted to walk my daughter down the aisle at her wedding. I wanted to experience the joys of the world with my lovely wife, Sue. So, I signed my antibodies to get extra COVID-19 protection. And to get back to doing what I love.

If you feel like you've been missing out, you can talk to your doc about signing the antibodies. So, you might finally be able to get back to doing some of the things you love. And man, wouldn't that be great?

Sending love and good vibes.

Your friend,

Jeff Bridges
